- highly relevant to the nominated occupation.

Pathway 2

This pathway requires a qualification assessed as comparable to the education level of an Australian Qualifications Framework (AQF) Bachelor degree or higher degree and in a field not highly relevant to the nominated occupation.

Bachelor degree or higher degree includes AQF Master Degree or AQF Doctoral Degree.

An additional qualification in a highly relevant field of study at a minimum AQF Diploma level is required. Additional qualifications in a highly relevant field of study include those comparable to the AQF Diploma or AQF Advanced Diploma or AQF Associate Degree or AQF Graduate Diploma.

In addition, it is essential for applicants to meet the following employment criteria:

- at least two years of post-qualification employment at an appropriate skill level, undertaken in the last five years,
- working 20 hours or more per week, and
- highly relevant to the nominated occupation.

Pathway 3

This pathway requires a qualification assessed as comparable to the education level of an Australian Qualifications Framework (AQF) Bachelor degree or higher degree and in a field not highly relevant to the nominated occupation.

Bachelor degree or higher degree includes AQF Master Degree or AQF Doctoral Degree.

In addition, it is essential for applicants to meet the following employment criteria:

- at least three years of post-qualification employment at an appropriate skill level, undertaken in the last five years,
- working 20 hours or more per week, and
- highly relevant to the nominated occupation.

Pathway 4

This pathway requires a qualification assessed as comparable to the education level of an Australian Qualifications Framework (AQF) Bachelor degree or higher degree with or without a highly relevant major field of study to the nominated occupation.

Bachelor degree or higher degree includes AQF Master Degree or AQF Doctoral Degree.

In addition, it is essential for applicants to meet the following employment criteria:

- at least six years of employment at an appropriate skill level that includes at least one year of highly relevant employment within the last five years before applying,
- working 20 hours or more per week, and
- highly relevant to the nominated occupation.

Qualification

Records Managers often have qualifications in Information Management. Information Management is the study of different methods and practices in information management, the methods of selecting and organising information resources, and the technology used in the storage, retrieval and dissemination of information.

Highly relevant fields of study would include:

- Records Management
- Records / Information Management
- Information Technology
- Library and Information Science

Other fields of study such as Business and Information Technology may be considered on a case-by-case basis if they include sufficient coverage of subjects in Records Management, Record Keeping and Information Management / Information Science.

Library and Information Sciences is an interdisciplinary field that focuses on the organisation, preservation, and access to information, both in physical and digital formats. It covers Information Management, Archiving, Use of Tech in Information or Record Management.

Employment

Tasks include:

- Developing record cataloguing, coding and classification systems, and monitoring their use
- Managing the organisations' central records systems
- Analysing the record-keeping needs of organisations, and translating these needs into record management systems
- Maintaining computerised and other record management systems and record forms, and advising on their usage
- Controlling access to confidential information, and recommending codes of practice and procedures for accessing records

Additional Tasks

- Managing and training staff in the use of record management systems to ensure compliance and efficiency
- Managing internal record distribution and act as the organisation's primary records custodian
- Extracting statistical and other data, based on the classification of recorded information
- Assisting with surveys and research that require access to recorded information,
- Processing requests under freedom of information laws, and supporting data analysis
- Conducting audits to identify missing records and arranging searches to retrieve them
- Developing better practices to mitigate risk associated with poor records keeping systems
- Developing records disposal schedules and monitoring their use
- Developing disaster plans to make sure that the organisation has the necessary information to continue functioning

Employment Information

Records Managers typically work in government departments or large corporations. Their primary responsibility is to develop, implement, and manage a records management system, ensuring compliance with relevant standards and policies.

Key responsibilities of a Records Manager include:

1. System Development & Implementation

- a. Analyse business requirements to design and build an effective records management system.
- b. Establish policies and standards for records management.

2. Ongoing System Administration

- a. Configure and maintain the records management system post-implementation.
- b. Ensure compliance with legislation, privacy policies, and industry standards.

3. Records & Archives Management

- a. Apply best practices for records retention, storage, and retrieval.
- b. Oversee data governance and knowledge management strategies.

Skill Level and Distinction from Administrative Roles

The Records Manager role requires specialised knowledge of records and archives management, relevant legislation, and data privacy regulations. Unlike administrative or clerical staff—who may handle filing and document archiving as part of broader administrative duties—Records Managers focus on high-level system management, compliance, and policy development.

Supporting material for assessment

Applicants nominating this managerial occupation must submit an organisational chart. An organisational chart should include:

- . The company letterhead,
- . Your job position,
- . The job position of your superiors and subordinates, as well as,
- . All positions reporting to your immediate supervisor and to your direct subordinates.

If you are unable to obtain an organisational chart from your employer, please provide a statutory declaration outlining the required information and the reasons why this information cannot be provided.
