Information for employers: Information relevant to the nominated occupation, completed at an appropriate skill level in the five years before the date of application for a Skills Assessment
 ANZSCO Code: 224909 Date created: August 24, 2025

Qualification

This includes qualifications assessed at AQF Bachelor, Master and Doctoral level.

Qualifications related to the nominated specialisation of Critic may be considered on a case-by-case basis if the employment is assessed as highly relevant. For example, critics may have qualifications relevant to the area of the creative arts they review – Dance, Drama, Fine Arts, Film Studies, Literature, Music or Theatre Studies.

Highly relevant major fields of study include:

- Journalism (the study of researching current affairs and events and other matters of interests and reporting them)
- Media Studies (the study of the forms and effects of media including books, radio, film, television, photography, print, digital and electronic media)
- Written Communication (the study of developing effective written communication skills).

Employment

Highly relevant tasks include, but are not limited to:

- Determining an advertising approach by consulting clients and management, and studying products to establish principal selling features.
- Making decisions about the specific content of publications.
- Reviewing copy for publication to ensure conformity with accepted rules of grammar, style and format, coherence of story, and accuracy, legality and probity of content.
- Collecting and analysing facts about newsworthy events from interviews, printed matter, investigations and observations.
- Writing commentaries, articles and stories for presentation in print and digital channels.
- Critically discussing daily news topics in the editorial columns of newspapers and reviewing books, films and plays.

Employment information

Journalists and other writers research, compose, edit and present stories, feature articles and commentaries or opinion pieces. Writing activities may span a variety of media including print, digital, online publications, radio and television. Some writers need to have in depth knowledge in their area of specialty.

Work is mobile and ranges from an office (at a media organisation, at home or on the road) across any of the environments from where the journalist gathers information.

This occupation belongs to ANZSCO Unit Group 2124 and covers Journalists and Other Writers that are not elsewhere classified in that Unit Group, or classified elsewhere in ANZSCO. Occupations considered suitable under this ANZSCO code are:

Blogger

Keeps and updates a blog or weblog.

Critic

Judges the quality or merits of literary or artistic works and discusses their opinions in the media.

Editorial Assistant

Provides administrative and some editorial assistance to senior editorial staff during the commissioning, planning or production stages of the publication process.

Photo Journalist

Creates images in order to tell a news story.

Vlogger

Regularly posts short videos to a vlog (video blog or video log, referring to a type of blog where most or all of the content is in video form e.g. YouTube, Facebook).

Not Elsewhere Classified (nec)

Some occupations assessed by VETASSESS are listed as 'nec' which means 'not elsewhere classified'. If you are nominating one of these occupations, you must ensure that your qualifications and employment are highly relevant to one of the occupation titles given in the ANZSCO description for the particular occupation. Other specific occupation titles which cannot be found elsewhere in ANZSCO will be considered on a case by-case basis as long as they are relevant to the 'nec' codes. In order to be assessed against an 'nec' code, your occupation would generally be described as non-classified, yet specialized or related to its ANZSCO Unit Group description.

Your employment in these nominated occupations should not better match another ANZSCO code (whether assessed by VETASSESS or not). When considering whether to nominate an 'nec' occupation, you should consider the sub major group description and determine whether your skills best fit this category.

VETASSESS conducts a case-by-case assessment to determine whether the employment can be considered highly relevant to the classification

If your employment is highly relevant to another ANZSCO occupation, that period of employment cannot be assessed suitably against an 'nec' classification, regardless of whether the occupation is available for migration purposes or not. You should provide a cover letter that justifies the rationale for choosing an 'nec' category

Supporting Material for Assessment

When applying for a Skills Assessment, please ensure you submit sufficient evidence supporting your proof of identity, qualification and employment claims. A full list of the documents required can be found on the VETASSESS website under Eligibility Criteria.

You should provide a cover letter that justifies your rationale for choosing an 'nec' category.

If you are nominating this occupation and you are self employed, you are required to provide the following:

- Evidence of self-employment such as sole trading or business registration details and/or official statements issued by your (registered) Accountant and/or legal team. The statement from your Accountant or Solicitor must include the Accountant's or Solicitor's letterhead, your full name, how long you have been continuously self employed, including official dates in each role, the nature of the business conducted, and the signature and contact details of the Accountant or Solicitor.
- A statutory declaration listing your main duties during self-employment.
- Payment evidence showing regular income from self-employment, such as client invoices together with corresponding bank statements and/or official taxation records.
- Supplementary evidence, such as contracts with clients or suppliers, client testimonials, evidence of projects completed, etc.
