Employment information

ICT Business Development Managers focus on the acquisition of new clients. The ICT products sold are typically targeted at industrial, business, professional and other organisations and would normally be expected to constitute business solutions rather than be off-the-shelf products. The role requires in-depth, specialised knowledge in ICT to assess the needs of client organisations, explain the goods and services in detail, and engage in appropriate reporting and business planning.

The role of a Business Development Manager is primarily to acquire new business/accounts, rather than to generate increased revenue from existing accounts. ICT Sales Assistants, who sell computing and telecommunications-related goods and services in retail and wholesale establishments, are elsewhere classified in ANZSCO at a lower skill level than ICT Sales Professionals.
