- Merchandise Planning
- Marketing
- Retail Management

Employment

Highly relevant tasks include:

- monitoring sales data and stock levels, and studying trade, manufacturers' and market information to keep informed of changing market conditions.
- negotiating purchase, promotion and supply arrangements with suppliers.
- designing and implementing pricing, marketing, promotional and display strategies.
- liaising with management on long-term planning and sales promotions.
- establishing working plans according to seasonal and budgetary requirements.
- anticipating consumer trends and determining quantity, style and quality of goods to be purchased.

Employment information

Retail Buyers purchase goods to be sold in retail stores. They may purchase goods locally, interstate or overseas. In large department stores, Buyers may specialise in certain types of merchandise (textiles, fashion, hardware or toys, for example). In small businesses, owners normally do their own retail buying after consultation with their staff.

A positive skills assessment for Retail Buyer requires a dedicated retail buying role.
