ANZSCO Code	Occupation Name	Additional Information
222112	Finance Broker	A Finance Broker operates as an independent agent in the course of financial negotiations and arranges loans of money on behalf of clients (ANZSCO). The role of a Finance Broker is different in focus and scope from that of a Financial Investment Adviser. A Financial Investment Adviser develops and implements financial plans for individuals or organisations, and advises on investment strategies and their taxation implications, securities, insurance, pension plans and real estate, rather than acting as an independent agent in financial negotiations. Highly relevant fields of study would include a major focus in Finance, Economics, Econometrics, Accounting, Management, Commerce or Business.
222199	Financial Brokers nec	Professions currently listed under the ANZSCO Unit Group 2221 for Financial Brokers, includes 222111 Commodities Trader, 222112 Finance Broker and 222113 Insurance Broker. Financial Brokers nec covers Financial Brokers not elsewhere classified (ANZSCO). For employment that is similar in nature or expertise to other occupations listed within a Unit Group, but not elsewhere classified in ANZSCO, applicants can consider an nec classification. For nec occupations, VETASSESS conducts a case-by-case assessment to determine whether the employment can be considered highly relevant to the classification. However, if an applicant's employment is highly relevant to another ANZSCO occupation, the same period of employment cannot be assessed suitably against an nec classification, regardless of whether the occupation is available for migration purposes or not. Specialisations for this nec classification include (but are not limited to) Investment Broker. Highly relevant fields of study would include Finance or Economics or Econometrics or Accounting or Management, Commerce and Business. Applicants should include a cover letter that justifies the rationale for choosing an nec category.
149914	Financial Institution Branch Manager	A Financial Institution Branch Manager organises and controls the general operational activities of a branch of a bank, building society, credit union or similar financial institution (ANZSCO). Highly relevant fields of study would include a major focus in Banking, Finance, Business or Commerce. Applicants for this occupation must provide an organisational chart.
